6. The author wishes to extend heartfelt thanks to all the lecturers of the English Education Study Program, whose dedication and genuine commitment have guided and motivated her throughout her studies. Through their teaching and encouragement, they have broadened her understanding and helped shape who she has become as a student, and for this she is deeply grateful.
7. To her beloved parents, Mr. Basuki Herlambang and Mrs. Yusnawati, thank you for your endless prayers, unconditional love, and countless sacrifices that you have made without ever expecting anything in return. Thank you for always being her greatest source of strength, encouragement, and the reason she never stopped fighting for her dreams, and for always doing everything you could to give her the best future possible. She realizes that no words or actions will ever be enough to repay all the love, care, and sacrifices you have given her. Every achievement she has accomplished is the result of your prayers, unwavering support, and faith in her. She wants you both to know that she loves you more than she loves herself. She will never know how to truly repay everything you have done for her, except by striving to become someone who makes you proud. She dedicates this thesis to both of you with all her love, deepest respect, and endless gratitude.
8. To her beloved sister, Elisa Bayusri, and her beloved brother, Elbet Bayusri, thank you for your endless prayers, love, support, and encouragement throughout her journey. To her sister, thank you for always being there whenever she doubted herself, for listening to her worries, helping her whenever she needed you, and filling her days with kindness and happiness. To her brother, thank you for always believing in her, supporting her dreams, and being proud of every step she has taken. She is truly grateful to have both of you by her side, and she loves you both with all her heart.

9. To her dearest friends, Seri Jelita, Tasya Alkhaira, and Rike Meyla Eka Saputi, thank you for being her home throughout this journey. Thank you for always being there through every joy and hardship, for your endless support, prayers, kindness, warm hugs, and encouragement that gave her the strength to keep moving forward. She is truly grateful to have met friends as wonderful as you. Every moment and memory they shared will always hold a special place in her heart.
10. To Nurfadilah, a friend who has become like an older sister to her, thank you for coming into her life and making her journey brighter. Their friendship began because they both loved Enhypen, especially their shared bias, Jake Sim, and it has grown into such a precious bond. Thank you for always treating her like your little sister, listening to her stories, supporting and encouraging her, and standing by her side until she was able to complete this thesis. She is truly grateful to have met you, and she will always cherish your friendship.

11. To the idols she admires, Jake Sim and Kim Sunoo from ENHYPEN, Zhong Chenle from NCT DREAM, and Kim Geonwoo from ALD1, thank you for being a source of happiness, strength, and inspiration throughout her journey. Through your hard work, passion, and encouraging words, she learned to believe in herself, never give up on her dreams, and keep moving forward despite every challenge. Although you may never know her, your presence has inspired her and become one of the reasons she was able to complete this thesis. Thank you for reminding her to dream bigger and never stop believing in herself.

12. Lastly, to herself, thank you for never giving up and for having the courage to keep moving forward through every challenge. Despite the tears, failures, doubts, and obstacles, she always found the strength to rise again. May this thesis remind her that every sacrifice, prayer, and effort was worth it, and may she continue believing in herself and embracing every new beginning with courage.

The author hopes this study can benefit the readers and remains open to constructive feedback for further improvement and development.
